THE CAUSE OF COLOR IN YOUR ORANGE YELLOW DIAMOND

The Orange and Yellow hues of this 2.15 carat diamond attest to the presence of nitrogen atoms that absorb blue light and create a yellow hue, combined with red luminescence. Diamonds with orange and yellow appearance have a distinctive atomic structure that results from immense pressure that deformed their crystal lattice and led to the absorption of a broad range of colors, including purple, blue and green.

A WORD ABOUT THE SATURATION OF YOUR DIAMOND

The grade 'Fancy' represents a level with a significant presence of color and accounts for 25% of all Orange Yellow fancy Color diamonds.

There are Three available saturation levels in Yellow color diamonds, Fancy being the First most saturated.

Fancy orange-yellow

Fancy Intense orange-yellow

Fancy Vivid orange-yellow

THE FUNDAMENTALS OF THIS DIAMOND'S SHAPE

The Pear brilliant cut diamond is a classic shape that appeared in jewelry as early as the 17th century on nobles and royalty. The facet alignment on the pavilion is inspired by the classic Round brilliant, hence the name of this shape. Only 18% from all Orange Yellow fancy color diamonds are polished as Pear shape.

TRUE FACE-UP

The carat weight and physical size of a diamond are important factors in determining its value. However, when it comes to fancy colored diamonds, there is a tendency to prioritize other visual elements over their size, and as a result, the surface area of the face-up view is not always given high priority.

Diamonds that appear slightly smaller are considered to be within the norm. However, diamonds that appear larger in relation to their weight will receive a premium.

* The data in this section pertains to the relationship between your diamond's face-up dimensions and the average face-up dimensions for relevant weight categories.

The Face-up of this 2.15 carat Pear is equivalent to that of a 2.28 - 2.33 carat which is ~7.2% larger than the average Pear shape in this weight.

Large face-up commands a Premium
